FX TELLER

Strategic Blueprint

Founder Edition

Version 1.0 | July 2026

Prepared by the Executive Strategy Office

Letter to the Founder

This document is the Master Strategic Blueprint for FX Teller. It is the company in writing. It has been produced by the full Executive Strategy Office, drawing on every strategic document in the knowledge base, and stress-tested by the most-sceptical reader the Office could find. It is the document you will hand to the next executive, the next investor, the next regulator, the next Host.

What has been built in this knowledge base is unusual. Twenty-two strategic decisions recorded in the Decision Register, with named owners and review cadences. Three governance frameworks: a 10-specialist Strategy Office with explicit vetoes, a 6-rhythm operational cadence, a documentation discipline that survives a 90-day Founder absence. A legal stack: SEBI opinion, Member agreement suite, data protection posture, audit trails. A financial model with Conservative, Expected, and Optimistic scenarios. A 6-month execution plan with week-by-week milestones. A 24-month strategic roadmap with quarterly sequencing. A Decision Log, a Glossary, a Project Status, a Risk Register, a KPI dashboard.

How this document should be used: read it once, end to end. Then put it down for 48 hours. Then read the Letter to the Founder, the Executive Summary, the Board Recommendations, and the Founder Dashboard. Then close it and execute the first 30 days. The document is the operating system; the operating system is the company.

Why execution now matters more than planning: the philosophy is a 10-year project, not a 1-year plan. The 6-month execution plan is the discipline of becoming a real company. The 24-month roadmap is the discipline of becoming an institution. The 10-year vision is the discipline of becoming a category. The 90 days ahead decide which of those three the company becomes.

Executive Summary

FX Teller is a members-only, audio-first Trading Floor for disciplined retail traders. A members' club whose principal amenity is a live, audio-only Trading Floor where a Host narrates the market in real time. The brand is the philosophy: discipline over engagement, process over prediction, calm over urgency.

The company exists because the Indian retail-trading industry has built a product economy that systematically mis-serves the disciplined trader. Signal groups, tipsters, gamified brokerages, and copy-trading platforms all profit from engagement the trader would be better off not having. FX Teller is the structural counter-position: ambient, calm, audio-first, process-over-prediction, no engagement-extraction.

₹25L	75%	8	500–800
MRR AT M24	GROSS MARGIN	TEAM SIZE	MEMBERS M24

The model is a premium, community-first membership. Annual tier is the spine; Monthly is the on-ramp. Trading Credits are bundled transparently into the Annual fee. Capital posture: bootstrap Year 1 (₹1.2–1.5 Cr Founder reserve), Year 2 strategic raise of ₹15–30 Cr on philosophy-defending terms. Team: 4 in Year 1, 6 by Q4, 8 by Year 2. House of Traders: scoped Q5, built Q7, opened Q13–Q14. AI Companion: production by Q11–Q12.

The most load-bearing resource is the Founder. The plan is a Founder-protection plan disguised as a launch plan. Second Host and second writer in Months 4–5. Workload capped at 45–55 hours/week. Warm first session is Host-led by Q3.

Success at 24 months: 500–800 Members, ₹25L MRR, 75% gross margin, 8-person team, 4-rhythm cadence, House construction, AI Companion in production, Dubai cohort launched, brand recognised as the most-respected lifestyle brand for disciplined traders in India and Dubai.

I

PART ONE

The Vision

The Vision

FX Teller becomes, by 2035, the most-respected lifestyle brand for disciplined traders globally. The brand is recognised the way Soho House is recognised, the way Costco is recognised: as an institution whose Members are the people who have decided to be the kind of person the institution makes possible.

The Mission

To give disciplined retail traders a calm, professional, members-only environment in which to develop the kind of trading practice that compounds over years rather than the kind that exhausts over months. The mission is the Member's first 90 days: the Floor, the community, the ritual, the journal, the moderation, the warm first session.

The Values

12 principles that govern every decision: discipline over emotion, trust before revenue, members before metrics, long-term thinking, quality over quantity, community before virality, calm over hype, consistency creates success, freedom through simplicity, technology reduces friction, execution before perfection, never stop learning.

> Core Philosophy — 5 Commitments. (1) Trading is a business. (2) Discipline beats strategy. (3) Consistency beats excitement. (4) Patience is an edge. (5) Trading should fit into life. These are not negotiable. The philosophy is the asset.

The Problem

Signal groups, tipsters, gamified brokerages, and copy-trading platforms profit from engagement the trader would be better off not having. Push notifications, leaderboards, FOMO banners, streak badges — all engineered to make traders act more often, not better. The trader's outcome correlates with the absence of these levers; the industry's revenue correlates with the trader's presence on them. The incentives are in conflict.

The Opportunity

The disciplined retail trader who has rejected the signal-group model and is looking for a club, not a feed. SOM: 2,000–5,000 Members in five years — defensible, reachable, small enough that the brand can hold every name.

Why Now

India has crossed ten crore demat accounts. Writing-led premium brands (Zerodha Varsity, Zoho) have proven the model. The members'-club category does not yet exist for traders. The window for category-creation is 24–36 months.

Part I Summary. Vision: category-defining by 2035. Mission: Member transformation from reactive to process-driven. Values: 12 principles. Philosophy: 5 commitments, non-negotiable. Problem: engagement-extraction economics. Opportunity: 2,000–5,000 SOM. Why now: category window open for 24–36 months.

II

PART TWO

The Business

Business Model

A premium, community-first, philosophy-defended membership. Revenue is the downstream effect of Member value; the philosophy is the upstream cause.

> Trading Credits. Single type. Bundled into Annual fee. Four "nevers": no expiry, no transfer, no purchase, no public display. The philosophy expressed in credit design.

Commercial Strategy

Product of a 7-subagent analysis. Seven key commitments:

#	COMMITMENT	DETAIL
1	Two-tier v1	Monthly + Annual only
2	Founding cohort	50 Members, closed, never reopened
3	Single Credit	Four 'nevers' — no expiry/transfer/purchase/display
4	Growth engine	Writing-led, zero paid acquisition
5	Capital posture	₹1.2–1.5 Cr bootstrap Y1, ₹15–30 Cr raise Y2
6	Member targets	30–50 Y1, 150–200 Y2, 350–500 Y3
7	Launch	Two-stage: Design Partner (8–15) → Founding (50)

Competitive Position

FX Teller sits in a category it is creating: the first members' club for serious retail traders in India. The brand is not a trading app, not a trading educator, not a generic SaaS, not a podcast subscription. It is a Trading Floor in a Club. The category is defensible because it does not yet exist.

CATEGORY	EXAMPLES	FX TELLER VS
Trading Apps	Trendlyne, Sensibull	Engagement → Discipline
Trading Educators	Prateek Singh, Power of Stocks	Content → Community
Premium SaaS	Superhuman, Linear	Product → Membership
Members' Clubs	Soho House, Aether	Hospitality → Trading
Audio Subs	Substack, podcasts	Broadcast → Live, Members-only

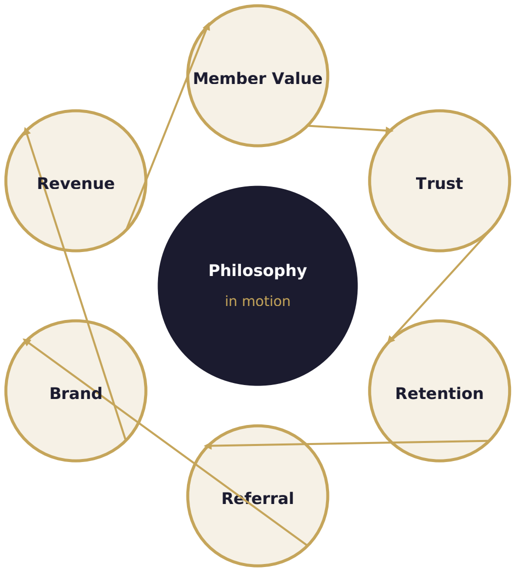
Differentiation

Eight vectors: (1) Live audio, Members-only. (2) Process narration, not prediction. (3) Calm voice, not charisma. (4) Bounded community. (5) Warm first session. (6) Discipline Test. (7) "What we are NOT" list. (8) Brand Strategist's veto at every scale.

Moats

Ordered by durability: Brand Philosophy → Member Trust → Community → Host Quality → House of Traders → Operating System. A competitor can clone the audio room in a release cycle; they cannot clone the trust account in a decade.

Value Creation Flywheel



Part II Summary. 4-tier revenue model. Single Credit type. 7 commercial commitments. Category: first members' club. 8 differentiation vectors. 6 moats, philosophy as the most durable. 30+ financial risks identified.

III

PART THREE

The Product

Product Ecosystem

A live audio-first members' club that uses trading as the discipline. The product surface is deliberately small.

Trading Floors

Five daily services on a published fixed cadence:

SERVICE	DURATION	CADENCE
Morning Briefing	10–15 min	Daily
New York Session	60–90 min	Daily — flagship
Closing Bell	10–15 min	Daily
Weekend Review	45–60 min	Weekly
Psychology Sessions	45 min	Monthly

Member Experience

The 12-stage Experience Lifecycle: Curiosity → Application → Acceptance → Onboarding → First Floor → First Win → Community → Habit → House → Ambassador → Lifetime → Founder-tier. The first 90 days is the identity-formation phase.

8 feelings the lifecycle produces: Calm, Trust, Belonging, Professionalism, Freedom, Progress, Growth, Pride.

Service Catalogue

48 services listed; 13 v1 commitments; 35 future-vocabulary. V1: 5 daily + 4 monthly/quarterly + 4 aspirational (shipping Year 3+). The discipline: "We will not ship because the catalogue lists it; we will ship because the philosophy is ready for it."

LAYER	V1	FUTURE	TOTAL
Trading Floor	5	3	8
Library	2	6	8
Community	3	8	11
Process Journal	1	2	3
Mentor Pool	2	4	6

House of Traders

The philosophy in hospitality form. Q5 scoping, Q7 construction, Q13–Q14 opening. A digital product can be reverse-engineered in a quarter; a House cannot.

AI Companion

The philosophy made operational. V1: Session Summaries, Trading Journal, Discipline Coach (Q9–Q10 alpha, Q11–Q12 production). Gated on corpus formation and a quarterly philosophy-alignment test.

Part III Summary. 13 v1 services across 5 layers. 12-stage lifecycle. 48-service catalogue. 4-stage product evolution. House: Q13–Q14. AI Companion: Q11–Q12 production.

IV

PART FOUR

Less, in the Right Way

Absence of notifications, leaderboards, signals

A Club, Not a Feed

Bounded community, named Members, rituals

Final Conclusion

If the Founder follows this Master Strategic Blueprint with discipline, FX Teller can realistically become, over 24 months, a premium, philosophy-defended, community-led institution with 500–800 Members, ₹25L MRR, 75% gross margin, an AI Companion in production, a first House of Traders in construction, a Dubai cohort launched, and a brand recognised as the most-respected lifestyle brand for disciplined traders in India and Dubai.

If the Founder follows this plan for 10 years, FX Teller can become, by 2035, a category-defining institution: 4–8 Houses across the world's financial centres, 5,000–12,000 Members, ₹50L+ MRR, a 12–15 person team, a Dubai-Singapore-London-New York presence, a publishing imprint, an annual gathering, and a brand that the trade press recognises as the most-defensible lifestyle brand in the category.
